Common Concerns

- There is too much to learn
- I don't know what to revise
- I don't know how to revise
- I don't know where to start
- I don't have enough time
- My notes are too messy/disorganised
- I don't know how to memorise things
- I feel too anxious about exams.

Reducing Concerns

- I know when/where to start
- I have enough time
- I know what to revise
- I know how to remember more – revision skills
- My notes are organised
- There is a lot to learn
- I feel less anxious about exams

Long Term Memory

If information in the short term memory is rehearsed long enough, it eventually ends up in the long-term memory.

- Transfer the information from short term to long term through repetition.
- Deepen understanding of the content so that it is committed to long term memory and can be recalled effectively.

The Forgetting Curve

Typical Forgetting Curve for Newly Learned Information

Typical Forgetting Curve for Newly Learned Information

Effective Revision Sessions

- Focussed time with no distractions
- Appropriate resources – Teams / SharePoint
- Regular short breaks (10min)
- Mix subjects and topics within longer sessions – interleaving
- Follow the plan / tick off work done.
- Build in rewards and other activities.

What the research says

More Effective

Technique	Description
Practice testing	Self-testing or taking practice tests
Distributed practice	Using a schedule of practice over a period of time
Elaborative interrogation	Coming up with an explanation to explain why a fact is true
Self –explanation	Explain how new information relates Explaining steps in problem solving
Interleaved practice	Schedule that mixed different kinds of problems in a single study session
Summarisation	Writing summaries of to-be learned materials
Highlighting/underlining	Marking important information
Keyword Mnemonic	Using key words and images to associate verbal materials
Imagery for text	Forming mental images of text while reading or listening
Rereading	Rereading test material

Retrieval Practice Revision Techniques

Simplified Example

What / How

Simple Effective Quiz

1. Work hard to remember the content.
2. Cover notes or answers.
3. Test yourself or ask someone to test you.
4. What did you get correct?
5. What did you miss out / get wrong?
6. Test again after 2 days / 5 days / 2 weeks / 1 month – increase the frequency if errors start increasing.

Advantages	Disadvantages
Reduces consumption of fossil fuels for electricity production	Wind generators are only feasible in certain areas
Reduces production of greenhouse gases	Each wind turbine kills about one bird per year
Reduces production of pollution	Wind generators make a humming sound that can be heard nearby
Can provide extra income for farmers	Wind generators are tall and can block the views of nearby scenery
Wind is a renewable energy resource

Summarising

Check understanding – after a period of time (one week) can you still produce a summary of the key content or advantages / disadvantages of a topic?

Can you recall and reproduce written lists or explain to a partner verbally?

Can you summarise the:

Strengths and weaknesses

Advantages and disadvantages

Positives and negatives

Mind Map

Start from a blank piece of paper.

Draw out the mind map from your notes and add simple doodles / colour to help visualise the content.

How much of the mind map can you recall from memory?

Check against a correct version.

Test and retest until you can remember the full version.

Can you describe it verbally?

Can you describe it verbally?

Tell the story.....

Key Words

Evaporation
Convection
Condensation
Precipitation
Energy
Warm/Cool
Flow
Vapour
Fall/rise

Tell the story

After learning the key content try to create a story that can be written or spoken to include the key concepts.

The story can then be rehearsed and improved with greater detail and accuracy.

Brain Dump

Set a time limit (5min or 10min)

Write everything you know about a topic or theme.

For best practice start each sentence on a new line.

Check what areas you missed out and add these at the bottom in CAPITALS or a different colour.

Flash Cards

Spend more time testing yourself with them than making them!

Add the title to the reverse.

Read the title

Before turning over write or speak the key content.

Shuffle the pack to get a different sequence.

Flash Cards – Leitner System

As above

If card is completed accurately move it up a box.

If mistakes are made or answers are incomplete move it down a box.

Test yourself every day for cards in box1.

Every other day for box 2

Every week for box 3 etc.

What do flash cards include?

- Subject/topic on one side
- Bite-size chunks of information opposite
 - Keywords
 - Definitions
 - Lists
 - For/against
 - Main points
 - Mnemonics
 - Colour-coding
 - Diagrams

Friend (parent) Cue Cards

Use notes / flash cards as cue cards.

Person 1 reads the title, theme or question.

Person 2 tries to verbally explain the relevant content.

Person 1 helps person 2 with clues and suggestions to complete the card.

16 Describe what is meant by each of the following types of production.
Give an example of each in your answer.

16.1 Mass production (3 marks)

16.2 Batch production (3 marks)

Exam Practice Papers

Consider how long you would set yourself for a whole question or part of a paper.

Practice using the spaces provided.

ALWAYS check using the mark scheme.

Check you have included all the key points.

That all definitions are the worded as the examination board expects.

Add any missed content in CAPITALS or in a different colour.

Massed Practice

Interleaved Practice

Interleaving

Mix up your revision with shorter blocks of varied content or units.

Massed practice – completing lots of repetition of the same large unit or multiple examples of the same type/focus of question.

Interleaved – varying revision with questions from different units.

Research shows that interleaved practice can be more effective for learning to occur.

Put your phone away during revision.

Start revision early enough to allow retesting.

Have an organised revision planner to set out revision sessions and other activities.

Revise in a quiet environment – no background music

Sleep 8+ hours a night – with regular bedtimes!

Exercise regularly / fresh air.

Take regular breaks (5/10 min)

Eat a sensible breakfast.

Highlight command words on the question paper. Jot ideas and a plan on the paper before answering the questions.

Focus on activities that force you to retrieve information and test yourself rather than simply rereading or highlighting notes.

The background is a white sheet of lined paper with light blue horizontal lines. At the top, there are three large, soft watercolor-style washes in pink, orange, and purple. Scattered around the text are several sharpened pencils in various colors: a large purple pencil on the left, a blue pencil, a light blue pencil, a green pencil, a lime green pencil, a pink pencil on the right, an orange pencil, and a red pencil. In the bottom center, there is a purple pencil sharpener with a silver-colored metal blade and a small 'X' mark on its side.
